

One World Education

The Youth, Culture & Learning Celebration (YCLC) is an annual event hosted by One World Education, a non-profit leader improving student literacy and developing curriculum for teachers in Washington, DC schools.

The Gala Theatre, in Columbia Heights, will host this year's event on May 1, 2012. CBS Channel 9 News has featured the YCLC for the past two years.

The YCLC celebrates the current year's One World Student Ambassadors – 12 local students who have been chosen from among 1,000 participants.

Student Ambassadors:

- Have their writing published on our website: www.oneworldeducation.org
- Receive a scholarship upon graduating high school
- Find increased scholarship opportunities

“Our schools need programs that celebrate students in the classroom like One World Education. A program like One World should be in every school.”

*2010 YCLC Keynote Speaker
Kwame Brown
DC City Council Chairman*

How Can You Support These Students And This Event? 2012 YCLC Sponsorship Levels

One World Education Global Sponsor - $10,000

- The same benefits as the Continent Sponsor, plus:
- Speaking opportunity and a plaque awarded at the 2012 YCLC

One World Education Continent Sponsor - $7,500

- The same benefits as the Student Ambassador Sponsor, plus:
- Company information table at the 2012 YCLC

One World Education Student Ambassador Sponsor - $5,000

- Company name and logo on all promotional materials for the 2012 YCLC
- Company name and logo on the OWEd website and OWEd's two monthly newsletters for one year
- Five complimentary tickets to the 2012 YCLC, where you can present an award to your sponsored student

“How great that our students can have their writing published! One World Education is developing curriculum that our teachers can use on a daily basis.”

*2011 YCLC Keynote Speaker
Dr. Carey Wright
DCPS, Chief Academic Officer*

www.oneworldeducation.org

Explore, Learn, Share, Teach... One World Education